GOV. BRADLEY ELECTED SENATOR

Wins Long Fight With The Aid of Four Democrats.

Opposition Caught Napping. Walk
Into Trap and Help Make a Quorum.

Former Gov. William O. Bradley was elected United States Senator at Frankfort last Friday amid scenes of wild excitement. His election came as a complete surprise to most of the Democratic members and was made possible by four of the Democrats who had refused to vote for Beckham, Charles arranged to allow enough Democrats to vote to make a quorum before they exposed their hand and it was all over as soon as the followers of Beckham had expended their lung force. The election would have taken place on the previous day had the Democrats not broken the quorum. On the final ballot the supporters of Beckham scattered over a wide range, being unable to agree on a candidate.

The election ballot resulting as follows:

W. O. Bradley	64
J. C. W. Beckham	15
Ollie M. James	15
James B. McCreary	1

When after an hour of intense excitement and turmoil, Speaker Gooch announced the result, and declared Bradley elected, the enthusiasm of the Republicans and anti-Beckham Democrats knew no bounds. Dignified men howled themselves hoarse and strong ones cried like children. The newly elected Senator was surrounded by his admirers and supporters and overwhelmed with congratulations. After quiet had been restored he was escorted to the Speaker's stand by a committee and made the following ringing speech in his characteristic style:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Assembly—I want in the first place to return my thanks to you for the ordeal through which you have passed and the fair way in which you have carried out of it. I want in the next place to say to my Republican friends that as long as life exists with me, I shall never forget the determination and the kindness, the manner in which they have stood by me loyally from the end of this fight to the other. I cooperate with you boys, that you did sit steady in the boat. I want to thank you and those Democrats who voted for me this morning, and I shall never forget what they have done.

"To you gentlemen who have voted against me let me say I have the full warm feeling; you are all Kentuckians and you did what you thought right. To the distinguished gentleman who has been my opponent, I have no unkind word to say. I am not here to rejoice at his defeat, but I am here to rejoice over my own election.

"I want to say to you, gentlemen, that I feel the gravity of this situation. I shall try to do my duty, but I want to promise you Democrats and Republicans alike that when I go to the United States Senate I will do what I think is right, always standing for Kentucky.

"I want to say another thing. I deplore and denounce the lawlessness in this State as heartily as any man in it, but when I go to the United States Senate I shall give my voice and my vote to take the tax off of tobacco and allow the man who produces the tobacco to manufacture it and in that way at least try to do something for the peace of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

"I have never, gentlemen, denied my Republicanism, and I don't believe that those who know me best have ever charged that I have been in any sense a partisan. When I was Governor of this State I tried to give every Democrat within its borders a fair hearing. I never was actuated in doing a favor because a man was a Republican, nor refused a thing because he was a Democrat. Remember above all things that I am a fair, square man who wants to do my duty, and will do it regardless of consequences whenever that duty comes up.

"To the Democrats of Kentucky I want to say that when I go to the Senate I am the Senator from Kentucky and I am your servant, and when you desire anything I want you to make free to call on me, and I will do all in my power to accommodate you.

"I shall, of course, be a Republican on Republican questions. It is impossible for me to be anything else. I commenced following the banner of that party in 1869, when we had less than 40,000 votes in Kentucky. We were down in the valley of despair. There was not even a friendly star shining upon us, and from that day to this I have worked as a Republican because I believed it was right, and when I used to say that Kentucky was going Republican people laughed at me long ago, but she has gone Republican four times. I have been a Republican because I believe it was right, because I believe in those great interests which the Republican party stands for, and I shall stand for those interests and I shall do my whole duty as an honest man to the State of Kentucky.

"Gentlemen, I love Kentucky better than any other spot on earth. I have heard you gentlemen during this contest talk about love for Kentucky. I yield to no man when it comes to the love of my native State, but with all her faults I love her better than any other spot on earth. I want to be first if I know how to be. What I consider the first duty of every man today is what he should do.

"In the next place, my friends, I want it known that on partisan matters or political questions I shall be a Republican, but I want you all to remember that I am a Kentuckian, and I stand against the world. No man shall ever despoil the fair name of Kentucky while I sit there, for Kentucky will have a defender, and one who will defend her with his life blood if necessary.

"I don't want to detain you. I simply want to say that words are powerless to express my gratification on this occasion. I never was so grateful, I can't express it, but take it for granted that no man could be more grateful than I am to-day. Let me say to those of the General Assembly, let there be no strife, let us go along and do what is best for the interest of the State. Take up important matters in the Legislature, and do what you can to help Kentucky, remembering every man in here that he is no less a Kentuckian than I am, and that we all stand for the honor, welfare and well-being and prosperity of our State."

Gov. Bradley was overwhelmed with applause and congratulations at the conclusion of his address, the Democrats joining with the Republicans in offering their felicitations.

Tears stood in his eyes, and he was so deeply affected that he could not respond to their many kind expressions.

Speaker Gooch then appointed a committee to escort the defeated nominee to the platform. After a search of several minutes the committee returned and reported that it had been unable to locate Gov. Beckham, and that he had probably left the building. On motion of Senator Cureton a joint assembly was then adjourned sine die.

Dr. Hammond Dead.

Dr. L. H. Hammond, one of Ohio county's best citizens, died very suddenly at his residence near Horton, this county, about one o'clock p. m., yesterday. He had been in feeble health, but it was not thought to be of a serious nature. He was sitting in front of the fire and without any warning, dropped over dead. Up to warning dropped over dead. After funeral services held at Liberty yesterday his remains were interred in the Liberty cemetery.

SENATOR-ELECT WILLIAM O'CONNELL BRADLEY.

HOPE FOR ELEC- TION LAW.

Bar Association Thinks Senate Will Pass One.

Abolition of Certificate System and Fixing Penalties Are Some Changes.

In spite of the lateness of the present session of the State Legislature, the hope is being expressed by Kentucky Bar Association, which is advocating a new election law, that the bill which is now in the Senate, will be passed by the Legislature. It has been favorably reported to the Senate, and will come up this week for its final reading, when its passage is expected. It will then be considered in the House, and if no determined opposition to it develops, it is believed by its friends that the law will be passed, though they recognize that great obstacles will have to be overcome.

Mr. Kennedy Helm, of Louisville, a member of the committee, said that the bill is the result of absolute non-partisan efforts on the part of the lawyers of the State to get an election law, which will do away with the abuses which have marked the present law.

Probably the chief change, he said, is the abolition of the system of registration certificates, which have become negotiable instruments in the hands of unscrupulous citizens, who sell them to others, why buy them, both without being liable to any penalty for so doing.

The new law prescribes a penalty for the giver and taker of a bribe in connection with voting, and restores the old identification system for voters in place of the certificate system. Fifteen of twenty changes in the law are made altogether, both the local lawyers, who started the plan for a change after the 1905 election here, the committee of the Legislature in 1906 which had it in charge, the State Bar Association's committee having made the bill the best possible attainable.

The removal of police and firemen from politics, the prohibition of political assessments from office holders, making the date of registration several months earlier in order to give more time for the purgation of the lists, provisions for the leasing of property for registration of election purposes, in order that there may be no illegal changes of the voting place, and the fixing of a penalty for each of the election offenses, many of which have heretofore gone without liability of punishment, are among the most important amendments to the law.

A Bright Ohio County Boy.

Victor Mathews, son of editor Heber Mathews of The Herald is making a great record as a linotype operator. He is employed at present on The News, at Wilkes-Barre, Penn. Last week he set 7,700 lines in one day. Previous to this he had set 6,371 lines of solid brevier at an average per hour. His latest average is 6,387 ems per hour. This is a great record for one of his age and we doubt if it can be beaten. We always delight to note the success of an Ohio county boy and we predicted some time ago that young Mathews would give a good account of himself.

Notice to Republicans.

Persistent to the direction of the Republican State central Committee the time for holding precinct mass-conventions to elect members of the county committee is changed from March 7th to May, 2nd-1908. It is therefore ordered that the Republicans of Ohio county assemble at their several voting places at 1 o'clock on Saturday May 2, 1908 for the purpose of selecting members of the county executive committee.

FOR FAIRBANKS FOR PRESIDENT

Is Newly Elected Senator---
States His Position.

Federal Office Holders Must Not Boss Presidential Nomination.

Senator-elect W. O. Bradley has come out for Fairbanks for the Republican Presidential nomination and, if there was ever any doubt about how Kentucky would stand, it has been dispelled. He gives strong reasons for his belief that the Indiana statesman is the strongest candidate before the people. He also shows up the weaknesses of the Taft candidacy. Following is the full text of his statement:

"During the contest for United States Senator I felt as the nominee of the Republican party that I had no right to endanger success by complicating that race with my preference for the nominee for President. Despite absolute silence in this matter, the active friends of Mr. Taft aside from those in the General Assembly and a few others, gave no aid or comfort, since of them doing what they were able to do to defeat me.

Now that the contest has been happily ended, I feel that the public has the right to know my position. The recent financial troubles, which, unhappily, have not been wholly relieved, will, of course, whether justly or not, be charged upon the Republican party, just as the Homestead riots were charged upon it in 1892. Notwithstanding Mr. Harrison had given one of the most superb administrations the country had ever experienced and that neither he nor his party was responsible for these riots, the Republican party went down to defeat. We might as well appreciate the fact now, that we shall have no walkover in the coming Presidential contest. It therefore, behooves the party to exercise great caution in the selection of a presidential candidate. Judge Taft is a man of winning personality and signal ability, and would if elected, make a great President. But, while this is true, it seems evident that his election is by no means certain. With the labor unions and the negroes against him, it is exceedingly doubtful whether he could carry the States of Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, New Jersey, New York and possibly others. There can be no hope of carrying Kentucky, West Virginia and Maryland. So far as the Central and extreme Southern States are concerned it is well known that not a single electoral vote can be had for Mr. Taft or any other Republican. Besides, it is plain that the last-mentioned States are controlled alone by Federal office-holders.

The Federal officeholders in Kentucky have never failed when controlling the party in the State to accomplish a Democratic success.

In 1887, when there were no Republican Federal officeholders in the State, the Republicans reduced a Democratic majority of more than 45,000 in the previous gubernatorial contest to less than 17,000. In 1895, when there were no Republican Federal officeholders in Kentucky, the Republicans carried the State by a plurality of nearly 9,000. In 1898, when there were no Republican Federal officeholders in the State, Kentucky gave its electoral votes, with one exception for William McKinley. Now mark the difference.

When Bailey was nominated for Clerk of the Court of Appeals in 1897 through the machination of the Federal officeholders in the State, the publicans were defeated by 18,000 and a Democrat Legislature elected, which passed the infamous Goebel election law. In 1900, notwithstanding the magnificent record of McKinley and Roosevelt and the splendid personality of Mr. Yerkes under the active leadership of Republican Federal officeholders, Kentucky was again carried by the Democrats. In 1903 the Federal Republican officeholders, boot ed and spurred, ran over Williamson and Pratt nominating Mr. Belknap for Governor who notwithstanding his high character, was beaten by the enormous majority of 26,000; and only a handful of members

TOBACCO DEAL DECLARED OFF.

No Sale of Pooled Burley
Crop To American.

The Burley Society Leaders
Charge Bad Faith on part of Company.

Negotiations between the Burley Tobacco Society and the American Tobacco Company looking to the sale of the pooled crops of 1906 and 1907 which were pending for several days last week at Winchester, have been definitely declared off. The representatives of the Burley Society say that the trust was not dealing with them in good faith, and the breach between the two warring factions is wider than ever now.

It was hoped that the immense amount of tobacco which is in the Burley pool might be sold to the trust and the tobacco war in Kentucky ended, and there was much disappointment expressed here when members of the district board of the society reached Frankfort with the news that the deal was off. It was declared by the members of the board that the deal was never closed to a successful issue, for the reason that the trust was never in good faith, and they declare that they will never seek another meeting with the trust.

Several days ago the trust opened negotiations for the sale of the pooled tobacco, intimating that they would buy the entire pooled crop of both 1906 and 1907. A meeting of the district board and of the executive committee of the society was called for Winchester to meet with the representative of the trust. Two buyers for the American Tobacco Company went to Winchester and began negotiating with the executive committee, but the meeting was kept secret as it was believed that should the deal fall through it would hurt the society to have it announced that a deal was going to be made and then have nothing come of it. For four or five days the buyers were in conference with the representatives of the Burley Society and Burley growers were confident that something would be done. Now it is definitely settled that there will be no deal and no sale of the tobacco. The district board adjourned with the members feeling that they had been tricked and they expressed themselves freely on the subject.

J. H. Thomas of Bourbon county one of the members of the board said: "They played us for suckers and tried to string us. They strung us all right. In fact they were never on the level. It was a big bluff game they were working, and I think it was done to prevent the McChord bill from passing. They were never in good faith considering the purchase and we never did anything all the time that we were in Winchester with the trust buyers. There were two and finally another came along, but it all came to naught and now the negotiations have been definitely broken off. I am disgusted with the way we were treated, and feel that we were strung."

Other members of the board express themselves the same way, and all of them said that they were badly treated. They all thought the trust was bluffing and dragging them in a hole. Now it looks like the trust means to fight to a finish.

Keeping a Straight Line

What man has learned by dint of thought and experiments one of the lower animals appear to know through instinct. An instance is furnished by the "spiral swimming" of certain organisms, such as the spherical-shaped volvox and several elongated infusorians. As they revolve about the axis of progression, as does a projectile fired a rifle gun, the consequence is that they are able to travel in a straight line, as they could not do otherwise the revolution compensating with absolute precision for any tendency to deviate from a straight course. Without such a device many of these minute creatures would simply describe circles making no forward progress.

Top of the Continent.

It must have been a pleasant and Columbus-like feeling that filled and thrilled the soul of each first traveler on each of the great rivers of America. It must have been so because, that is how the normal boy feels when he finds a new path through the woods or across lots, and the man-explorer is but a large-print edition of the boy-explorer, so writes Aubrey Fullerton in the Technical World Magazine for December.

Those were great and glorious first trips up the St. Lawrence, from east to west, down the Mississippi, north to south; up the Columbia, west to east; down the Mackenzie, south to north. They are history now, and if you want to know what they felt like there are only two ways of finding out, and they only in part; to read the

Has many aches and pains caused by weaknesses and falling, or other displacement, of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent headache, dizziness, imaginary specks or dark spots floating before the eyes, gnawing sensation in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable drains from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness.

If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has a record of over forty years of cures. It is the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve known to medical science. It is made of the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful, or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle wrapper and attested under oath as correct.

Every ingredient entering into "Favorite Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials—though the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsements given to any other medicine extant for the cure of woman's ills.

You cannot afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy or known composition, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and it is an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know what you want and it is his business to supply the article called for.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original "Little Liver Pills" first put up by old Dr. Pierce over forty years ago, much imitated but never equalled. Little sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

Journals of the men who made them, or, better to follow yourself in the path of one of them by going this summer or next down the Mackenzie.

With such an introduction, the author tells an interesting story, well illustrated with photographs of the resources of the tremendous new Northwest, just now in process of opening up for settlement.

Directions to Prepare Home Mixture.

Tells You How to Overcome Rheumatism With Simple Recipe
Which is Easily Mixed.

A well-known authority on Rheumatism gives the readers of a large New York daily paper the following valuable yet simple and harmless prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results and the above will no doubt be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry at the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately or the druggists here will mix the prescription for our readers if asked to.

TOBACCO TRUST SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED.

Says Governor Willson in His Special Message to the Legislature.

Governor Willson in his special message to the legislature last week dealt the Tobacco trust a terrific blow. He said:

The Governor has always favored an earnest impartial, wise and zealous investigation of what are known as the tobacco trouble, and any cause of the night riding, and any trust or corporate abuse; but his opinion was against the necessity of employing lawyers selected by legislature committees for this purpose, because he believed that many members of the General Assembly themselves personally knew as much about such troubles causes and abuses as any witness in the State, and had ample knowledge to ask for themselves any questions necessary and had lawyers as able as any lawyers to put in forcible effective, useful and proper shape the results of such investigation. I hope that the General Assembly will not adjourn without adopting a strong and comprehensive act authorizing the Attorney General and his associates to investigate thoroughly and report to the Governor, or that General Assembly, on the causes, conditions and character of the recent disturbances and disorders in the tobacco district and any trust or combinations which in his opinion, are injurious to our people and that the act will authorize the payment of the actual and necessary expenses of such investigations, including witness fees for officers for summoning witnesses, stenographers and typewriters for reporting the testimony and for making out the report and conclusion of the Attorney General, out of the amount of the appropriation of $25,000 asked for in this message such payments, to be made on itemized accounts, certified correct by the Attorney General and approved by the Governor, and I hope that the measure will be so drawn that the Attorney General will be enabled to require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books papers and evidence in order that he may make a searching and efficient investigation of the methods and conduct complained of in the trust and that will be comprehensive enough to cover all trusts and any future disorders or troubles connected with or caused by them that may arise in the Commonwealth in similar cases and in order to give him sufficient force for this work the reorganization of the Attorney General's office, with authority to employ assistants and incur the necessary expenses, heretofore recommended in the interest of true economy and efficiency in the operation of his office, as will be necessary. I recommend that he be expressly required to report whether the statutes now in force are sufficient to remedy the abuses and punish any offenses of the trusts and that if he concludes that they are not he should be required to frame and report for the consideration of any future session of the General Assembly such measure as in his opinion, after examining the best precedents and records of public measure against trust abuses in other States will best protect the people of this Commonwealth against unfair or unjust business practices and operations.

Earth Tilted by Storm.
It was the invention of the seismograph for the study of earthquakes that led to the discovery of the surprising sensitiveness of the crust of the globe to forces that might have been thought too insignificant to cause distortion. Among these forces is the alteration in the pressure of the atmosphere during the passage of storms causing a perceptible tilting of large areas of ground. A curious case of such tilting in an unexpected direction has recently been recorded by Prof. Omori in Japan. A storm passing over the sea east of Tokio caused the bordering land to tilt downward notwithstanding the fact that the atmospheric pressure is lessened within a storm area. This is explained by the fact that the sea rises with release of atmospheric pressure and the accumulation of water more than sufficed to counterbalance the decrease in weight of the air.

CALEB POWERS LAST TRIAL COST HIM $15,000.

Several Thousand Dollars More
Than Previous Hearings
Have Cost.

A friend of Caleb Powers, in discussing the trial of the noted prisoner said that the cost would approximate about $10,000.

"Of this amount," he said, "about fifteen thousand dollars was paid by Powers for his defense, which was several thousand dollars more than any of the former trials cost the prisoner. The additional cost of this trial was due to the fact that getting the jury alone cost over $6,000."

Asked if the friend of Powers in the Eleventh Congressional district his old home, from which he was elected Secretary of State, were active in his political interest the gentleman above quoted said:

"If Powers is not pardoned by Governor Willson, before July, the time set for next trial, he will certainly be vindicated, we think, at that trial Judge J. S. Morris because of his prejudice and his arbitrary ruling in the last trial, will undoubtedly be sworn off the bench and an impartial Judge will be appointed by Governor Willson which will insure Powers a fair trial. At this trial he is certain to be completely vindicated. He will then go back home and his people will emphasize this vindication by nominating him for Congress. And he will be elected by an overwhelming majority."

Value of the Newspaper.

Occasionally a man is found in every community who thinks he cannot afford to be a subscriber to a local paper. Does he take out his pencil and figure in a cool, methodical way the cost of a weekly paper at one dollar a year? Does he candidly prove that this expense is but eight and a third cents a month, less than two cents a week, a quarter of one cent a day? Does he, in fairness to himself, make comparison of this newspaper expense with his tobacco bill or other indulgence which he might forego with profit? Not much. That dandy dollar which pays for the local newspaper has been dangling before his eyes and growing bigger every glance until it assumes the proportion of a Ferris wheel in his imagination.

No citizen can afford to be without a local paper. It is safe to say that $5 a year represents the actual value of a local newspaper to the average subscriber. There are ideas advanced, and suggestions given the value of which to the reader is little thought of. As a business proposition the local newspaper is worth many times the remarkably low subscription price asked saying nothing of the question of sentiment.

A Case for Misery.

"I have found a cure for the misery malaria poison produces," says R. M. James, of Louellen, S. C. "It's called Elictric Bitters, and come in 50 cent bottles. It breaks up a case of chills or a bilious attack in almost no time; and it puts yellow jaundice clean out of commission." This great tonic medicine and blood purifier gives quick relief in all stomach, liver and kidney complaints and the misery of lame back. "Sold under guarantee at all druggists."

FRIDAY, MARCH 6.

Examine the label on your paper, if it is not correct notify us.

Senator Bradley, sounds well.

Fairbanks is the safe and sane candidate. He would be just to all.

Presidential slate makers will do well to keep an eye on Uncle Joe Cannon.

If we can get China and Japan to fighting each other, the "yellow peril" will be in good shape.

The Democrats in Hartford who shed tears over Beckham's timely end, could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Members of Congress seems to think if they can get the motto, "In God We Trust" reentered to the coins, it will end the panic.

There are now in Kentucky at least two "band wagons," and the would be Federal office holder had better look twice before he jumps.

Now, if that legislature will only give us those redistricting laws repeal the registration certificate law and dog tax, all will be forgiven.

Senator Bradley correctly states the conditions, when he says there would be no chance for the Republicans to carry Kentucky with Taft as the nominee.

Had any one stopped to inquire why, in all this reported burning of tobacco the American Tobacco Co., has never lost a dollar's worth of property? If members of the A. S. of E. are doing the burning, why, let the A. T. Co. escape.

There is to be a merry fight between Beckham and his enemies for control of the party machinery in the State. The ex-Gov., will pose as a martyr and by thus hopes to continue his hold on his party, looking to something good in the future.

It looks as though the county unit law will be killed in the Senate, and by the Democrats. They have a majority in that body. One day this week an effort was made to call the bill from the committee, but it was defeated, the vote being 18 to 16. Of the 18 who voted to prevent consideration only 4 were Republicans.

Our Representative, Dr. J. A. Duff, is making a good record at Frankfort and is popular among his fellow members. He is always right on all questions, and was one of Bradley's strong aides in his long fight for United States Senator. He is rarely paired but sticks to his business as the representative of all interests of Ohio county.

If Taft is the Republican nominee for President the Republicans will have the fight of their lives to carry Ohio county for him. It is just as well to be plain about this matter. Whether the loss of Ohio county would have any effect on the contest or not, we all know what effect it would have on the county election next year.

The Hartford Herald is trying to array good farmers against Gov. Willson and Ex-Gov. Beckham because they sent soldiers to protect innocent people from night riders. Bless your souls boys, all "good" farmers want night riding stopped, and evidences are fast multiplying that this whole business was started to break up the American Society of Equity. No property has yet been destroyed for the Tobacco Trust.

The election of Ex-Governor Bradley to the United States Senate last Friday complete, the Republican State victory of last fall, and only brings to that party that which justly belongs to it. Had the State been honestly districted for members of the Senate and House, no one will dispute that both branches of the Kentucky legislature as a result of that election, would to-day be in the hands of the Republicans by safe majorities. On the other hand, if the Senator could have been elected by popular vote Bradley would have won over Beckham by 25,000.

The Hartford Herald is trying to "aid" the night riders on the editors of this paper, because we defend Gov. Willson for sending troops to some points in our State to suppress them. From the outset we have denounced night riders as enemies of the A. S. of E. and we have yet to learn where any member of the society has had anything to do with these outrages. So The Herald's implied invitation to them to go after us causes no loss of sleep. One of our editors was recently arrested in a distant city on a false charge because he happened to be at the head of this society and, as he believes, time will prove, through an effort of the tobacco trust to throw odium upon and break up the society. Later, when the State administration tendered him a position, he was "set upon" by every trust paper in the State, because of his connection with this society. These things will not deter us from standing for justice to all, and against those things which we believe will tend to weaken the heroic fight which the noble farmers are making against such a powerful and unscrupulous enemy. God still reigns and right shall yet prevail.

The election of Gov. Bradley United States Senator last week brings prominently before the eyes of Kentucky Republicans Hon. M. H. Thatcher, from our neighbor county of Butler. Mr. Thatcher was chairman of the Legislative campaign last fall and was untiring in his efforts to carry the legislature for the Republicans. He worked so incessantly that he would often refuse to take time to eat or sleep, and he brought to his work ability of an unusual high order. Since the contest has been on at Frankfort, he has been there day and night working like a beaver to bring success to the caucus nominee. We understand the Senator, elect, appreciates Mr. Thatcher's services and will it is safe to say aid him in his aspirations in the future. It is thought by many that he will succeed DuRelle as district Attorney for the Western district. He served for several years as Assistant to District Attorney Hill and it is safe to say he proved to be the most competent man who ever held the place. Notwithstanding Mr. Thatcher's ability and high character, the President, for the moment forgot his civil service proclivities, removed him and appointed a man whose only qualification was the fact that he had license to practice law. Mr. Thatcher has also been very favorably mentioned for National committee man. In our estimation no honor or too good can come to him. In view of the great services he has rendered.

AS WELL KNOW THE TRUTH.

Evidences are multiplying every day which show beyond a doubt, it seems to us that Mr. Taft cannot be elected President on the Republican ticket, those who are determined to force the this out, but we feel that we owe it to our party in Ohio county and the fourth Congressional district. If those who are determined to point the candidacy of the Secretary of war upon the party succeed and defeat comes we are not going to suffer the small eat part of the responsibility placed at our door. If he is nominated Mr. Taft will lose Kentucky by 40,000 majority. His attitude toward the negro soldiers, and toward organized labor, will not only embarrass us in the present race, but will render doubtful many Kentucky Republican counties in the election of county officers next year.

In order that our readers may know the position which organized labor is taking toward the Taft candidacy we reproduce labor resolutions adopted by the Washington Central Labor Union, unanimously, and which explains the method to be followed in arousing labor sentiment against the secretary of war:

Whereas, An election is to take place for delegates to both the Republican and Democratic conventions.

Whereas, Labor is opposed to William H. Taft, Secretary of War for the presidency; be it

Resolved, That the president of the Central Labor Union appoint a committee of three to secure the written promise of candidates as delegates to the Republican and Democratic conventions that they will not vote for any candidate for the Presidency who is opposed to organized labor.

Many Joining Army

Messrs. Albert Long, Jesse Haycraft, William T. Brown, D. Reanus, C. Fielden, of Hartford, joined the U. S. army, at the Army Recruiting Station at Owensboro, Ky. They enlisted for the artillery branch of service, and all passed an excellent physical examination. They were sent immediately to Jefferson Barracks, at St. Louis, Mo., for their preliminary training in the duties of a soldier, prior to joining the organization for which they enlisted.

The Owensboro recruiting station is doing a record breaking business at present, 34 men were accepted during the month of February, last. After carefully considering the various statements which have appeared concerning the increase of enlistments are stimulated by the prospects of Congress granting the much needed increase of pay. Many experienced soldiers are only re-enlisting also upon the belief that the increase of pay will be granted. The present depression in the labor market and the winter season have very little to do with enlistments.

MYSTERIOUS DISTRIBUTION OF ROOSTERS.
The good people of Magan community are much worried over a coincidence which is perhaps without a parallel in that or any other community. Friday morning of last week Mr. Henry Wright came into the village and told the story of the appearance that morning among his chickens of a strange domestic rooster. Mr. Henry Gillin remarked the coincidence of the appearance of a similar fowl in his henry that same morning, and these experiences were repeated until the number of roosters that had singularly appeared at as many farm houses in the same night amounted to five. Strangely enough no one reported the loss of a domestic rooster. Whether some breeder of dominies had by stealth at night distributed samples of his stock, or a band of domestic hoboos had decided to go into winter quarters is not known. Maybe it was a brood of orphan dominies from some urban quarters seeking rural homes, or perhaps they may be representatives of some detective agency of chicken thieves. A local meteorologist suggests that the comely dominies may have been carried up in vortex of a storm cloud and whirled through the aerial media for many miles and at last generously distributed among the Magan farmers.

From whence their origin may never be known but the fact remains that five fat and frolicsome domestic roosters made their first appearance in the henyards of as many Magan farmers on Thursday night of last week. Some of the superstitiously inclined are much worked up over the matter, suggesting that the advent of old dominies in such unceremonious fashion is a token of dire things to come, while others are inclined to give thanks that the available meat supply is increased to the amount of some fifty pounds by the advent of the speckled dominies.

Some Church History.
The Methodist Episcopal Church at No Creek, Ohio county Ky., was organized on the latter part of the 18th or in the beginning of the 19th century. The original members were from the States of Maryland, and Pennsylvania. The first Camp meeting held in this country was held near Goshen, on land then owned by William Phipps who was class leader.

William McKender was Presiding Elder. The first circuit rider was Joshua Barnes. Jessie Walker was here about 1801 and organized many churches. In 1805 preaching was held at a school house that stood not far from the burying ground, near the crossing of No Creek and near what was called Bennett's Mill; a mill built by Asa Bennett on land owned by John Bennett.

Class meeting was held weekly at Jeffers Bennett's and quarterly meetings were held at the house of John Bennett's which stood in the field now owned by Joseph Condit Barnett (and at this writing the above named field is owned by David Moreland) the site of this house was a short distance Northeast Obed Bennetts barn at this time the members as far as can be ascertained were:

Thomas Stevens who was class leader and Nancy his wife; Henry Stevens, Stewart and his wife Hannah.

Illgerson Belt, and wife, Benjamin Benton and wife, Richard Stevens and wife, John Bennett Jr. and wife, Amos Hilsley and wife, John Bennett Sr. and wife, Ruben Bennett, Jeffers Bennett Sarah Bennett, Mollie Barnett, Sally Barnett, Lucresi Barnett.

The first circuit extended from Salt river down to the Cumberland.

A log house was built about this time, at Bethel seven miles east of Hartford where the frame meeting house now stands: Here a church was organized; and among the first members were John Stevens; Class leader, also his wife, Stephen Stetler, and wife, William Stevens and wife, John Graves and wife, and several by the name of Leach.

All of whom came from Maryland. The descendants of these together with others who composed this church in 1845, went to the church South.

There was also in 1800, a church organized at Goshen, two or three miles South of Hartford.

Among the members were the Barnards, Phipps, Mockers and Coxes, William Phipps was also leader. This church also in 1845, went to the southern church. The preachers in the early part of this century (19 century) were James Axley, Jesse Walker, Goodman, Peter Cartwright, Franklin Travis, Thomas A. Morris.

Thomas Taylor moved here very early, he was a local preacher; for years he wielded great influence for good and to the building up of churches; but he became radical in his views and opposed the travelling preachers and church government and authority and was according to the best authority we are able to get excluded from the church.

P. S.--I copy this from an old church record that I find at the parsonage and I am not responsible for the mistakes, if there be any. I write this for publication by request of several of the old residents, belonging to both churches.

In Memory
Of H. J. Ranney, who departed this life December 20, 1907. He was born November 18, 1805, was forty-two years of age at the time of his death. His was a terrible fate. He and a friend of his, Edd Dortch, were hunting on that day and on returning home attempted to cross the Sep Taylor lake in a small canoe, the boat was capsized and its occupants deposited there in. Dortch came to the surface, seized the boat and called for assistance, which was willingly granted by his brother, Clyde, who arrived on the scene in time to save his life, but Ranney was drowned. He was a dutiful son, an affectionate husband, and kind father. He leaves a wife and one daughter, with many friends and relatives to mourn his departure. His remains were interred in the old Brick House burying ground Saturday afternoon. Grieve not, loved ones, let us hope that our loss is his gain. Why do we mourn? 'twas God who called.

The loved one from our hearts. His voice is heard in every home. He speaks and friends must part; But, oh! how sad to say farewell. To those on earth, most dear, The pain it gives, no tongue can tell. Nor can the falling tear. Also! they are gone and left us here, Life's weary path we tread, But they have found a brighter home, They have gone to dwell with God. We should not mourn, to them is give Eternal joy and rest. They vie around the throne in heaven, They dwell among the blest. Fond memory brings them back again, Their welcome voice we greet, But oh! sad fate, 'tis but a dream. We only wake to weep; Oh! let us then our God adore, So when the summons come, He will meet our friends that have gone before, And live with them at home.

ED TURNER A KENTUCKIAN HANGED

Pays Penalty With His Life For The Murder Of His Wife

Ed Turner, of Breathitt county, Ky., was hanged at 4:53 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the county jail in Chattanooga, Tenn., for the murder of his young wife, Lillian Turner. The deed for which he paid the extreme penalty occurred on the side of Lookout Mountain, in April 1907. The hanging was witnessed by a small crowd of officials, newspaper men and physicians. His body was taken Thursday night to Shoulder Blinde, his former home, for burial by an uncle, C. E. Jones.

Turner preserved a remarkable composure from the time he was notified that the Governor refused to interfere until the trap was sprung. He walked to the scaffold with a firm tread and in an equally firm tone told Sheriff Shipp, who sprung the trap that he had nothing to say. A few minutes before he was led to the scaffold he stated that he intended to die like a "Kentuckian." He wrote a pathetic farewell to his brother at Shoulder Blinde.

The crime for which he paid the penalty was one of the most brutal in the criminal annals of Tennessee. While on his way back to Kentucky after a brief tour he stopped in the city for a few days. While walking along the side of the mountain with his wife on the morning of April 2, he cut her throat, leaving her body to be found by strangers. He was captured in the mountains of Lee county by a paroled prisoner from the county jail, who had served a term in the Frankfort penitentiary with Turner.

In his petition for clemency recently sent to the Governor, Turner related being reared in a Godless country cited among other things that he that his mother and father had died when he was very young; that he had been thrown among the most lawless people of the Kentucky mountains; that he had never had an opportunity to attend church or Sunday school, and that he had little advantages of education.

Importance of Charcole.

The importance of the charcoal industry in the United States is described in Popular Mechanics. Originally valued only as a heat producer, charcoal is now used as an ingredient in the manufacture of gunpowder, a decolorizer of solutions, a medicine for dyspeptics and a purifier of water. As an antiseptic and cleanser its power is universally recognized. In a hospital a piece of charcoal will soon absorb and decompose obnoxious gases and sweeten the atmosphere. All these are but a part of its uses.

Comparative Food Values

An English Journal, The Lancet in discussing the comparative food value of roast beef and turkey, says that it may be said that weight for weight the flesh of the turkey is more nourishing than that of beef; but the latter is generally speaking, cheaper than the former. The moisture in beef, however, exceeds the amount present in the flesh of the turkey and the latter contains a better percentage of protein or flesh-forming substance. In either case the percentage of moisture is seldom less than 70 per cent.

In lean beef the amount of fat is much the same as in a not too well-fed turkey but it must be pointed out that the flesh of poultry differs from that of beef and mutton in not having its muscular fibers permeated by fat, and moreover, the fibers in the flesh of the fowl are short and rarely yield to the disintegrating action of the digestive processes. A large amount of fat in either case is apt to interfere with the digestibility of the meat. The fat of beef or more digestible than the fat of the turkey. The fat of a bird, in fact is harder and owing to its tendency to become rancid is unsuitable for the dyspeptic patient.

The Lancet believes that the most important difference from a dietetic point of view between beef and turkey is that whereas beef contains a high percentage of extractive matters turkey contains hardly any at all. The extractive matters in beef account largely for its peculiar and marked flavor, and owing to their absence in poultry generally and in the pleasant and palatable flavor of these meats is delicate. But there is no doubt that the extractives of beef as well as mutton are valuable for not only are they flavoring agents, but they also act as perhaps the most powerful stimulant to gastric digestion.

For the Bath

Bran for the bath is recommended. The bran used is the ordinary wheat bran fed to stock, and can be had at any feed store. Too much should not be purchased at once in order that it may be fresh and sweet. To use, make a cheese cloth bag to hold one or two quarts and fill with the bran—one quart size is sufficient for most people—and lay this in the bath which should be quite warm water, until it is thoroughly soaked; squeeze in the water until it gives to it a "bubbly" appearance. The bag may be used as a wash rag scrubbing as you would with soap. Bran water has a remarkable cleansing effect, even in the laundry. If one can have a thorough massage after the bath, it will aid greatly in bringing out the strength and steadying the nerves but it not a good rub-down with a Turkish towel should follow the bath.

For toilet purposes, make little bags holding two or three spoonfuls of either oatmeal or bran and use in place of soap after filling and letting lie in the water a few minutes.

Meat Delicacy.

For a veal roast with raisins take three pounds, roast a nice brown in butter, add hot water and salt, and cook. Within one hour of serving add one and one-half cups vinegar sweetened with sugar, three-quarters cup washed raisins, about ten flowers of clover. When done, remove meat thicken gravy with a little corn-starch dissolved in water and serve.

The Nation's Children.

A paragraph whether true or not is going the rounds of the newspapers to this effect, "In one of our largest cities 45,000 out of 600,000 school children are physically defective. Of these 48,000 are suffering from malnutrition; 32,000 from defective eyesight; 187,000 from defective glands, and 230,000 from defective breathing. Doubtless investigation would show that similar conditions exist in the majority of the large cities of the country." When we look about us and see the little ailing children under our own eyes, few of them absolutely normal in physical or mental health to say nothing of morals, should we wonder that large families are becoming the exception, and that the "race is in danger of dying out?" This condition of today is not without a cause and it gives a poor promise to the future generations. The stream can not rise higher than its fountain and each generation has to bear the weaknesses handed down to it through the physical condition of the men and women who are responsible for its being. Before undertaking to cleanse the Augean stables of the nation, would it not be well to our own individual nurseries?

Our Mission

The true mission of this paper in this wonderful age of progress, is to be magnanimous, "with charity to all and malice towards none." It speaks truth boldly for the truth's sake and cherishes justice as the apple of its eyes. It seeks by the prosperity of right principles and right thoughts, to be useful as well as popular, to build up truth and tear down error—in short to improve and ennoble, as well as to please and entertain mankind.

Our Faces.

Before going to bed the face should be washed in warm distilled or bran water—if the complexion is strong enough to stand water in any form—a slice of lemon adding in softening the skin, after which a good skin food must be well worked in, and the face finally rubbed gently with a clean piece of chamois leather, so as to remove the superfluous grease.

He Has Our Tag.

Just at the present writing Mr. Everitt has out tag. He had Messrs. Nelson, Gentner and the editor arrested on the evening of the 11th, about 2 or 3 o'clock p. m. As it was the day before Lincoln's birthday, a holiday, it kept us busy to keep from being in jail over the 12th. We are now at liberty and will be from this time on. He has no more show to what he has of wearing a crown in heaven. He is merely using the courts of Illinois to fight a newspaper war. The article he bases his case on is one copied from the Herald of Fort Branch, Indiana in regard to some Egyptian corn. Instead of arresting the editor of that paper, who lives in his own state, he comes here to Chicago and swears out a warrant for our arrest, merely to try to keep us from issuing our paper, while he is flooding the country with literature intended to break up our organization. It is not at all likely that the state of Illinois will allow itself to be taxed in order to further the spite of any individual.

We feel that we were entirely justified in saying everything we did in order to offset what he was doing to crush us.

The Equity Farm Journal has had no feeling at Mr. Everitt as a man. We have merely tried to protect the interests of the society. We have not published one-tenth part of the things which our people have almost demanded that we print, because we had no desire to injure any man, much less one who has done a good work, and we admit Mr. Everitt did some good work in organizing the society; and had he been willing to submit to the will of the majority he might still be looked upon as sort of a savior, because none of the things brought up against him would have been brutal about. But when any man tries to use an organization for his own personal advancement he must expect to be turned down, and should take his medicine like a man instead of rebelling and trying to tear down that which he has helped to build.

Mr. Everitt will be much wiser if not happier after this suit is decided. It takes a hard jolt to teach some people any sense, and some are never able to learn even by experience.—Equity Farm Journal.

Couldn't Christen Him.

At a recent christening in a mining village in Northeast Warwickshire, England, when a male child reached the font to be baptized the clergyman asked, "What is the name of the child?" "Beelzebub, sir," answered the mother. "What?" asked the astonished clergyman, thinking he had not caught the correct word. "Beelzebub, sir," repeated the woman. "My friends," said the astonished parson, "I cannot baptize a child in that name for it was given to the king of devils." The christening party retired to the vestry. There the parents informed the clergyman that they had followed an old custom in their family, and stuck a pin in the bible. The first named it passed through was the one chosen.

An Honest Millionair

While so many of our very rich men are the target for the press and the public for the way in which they have acquired swollen fortunes, it is pleasing to note that a man can acquire many millions and still retain the confidence and respect of their fellow men. Such was the case of Morris K. Jesup of New York, who died last week. Mr. Jesup was a banker in that city for nearly sixty years; and he financed and promoted many large and important enterprises, including the Canadian Pacific Railroad. It was his business to loan money and float bonds and conduct financial negotiations, and he dealt in very large transactions, by which he amassed many millions of dollars. No one can say that any of them were dishonest. His life was as upright and his habits as unostentatious as any ordinary citizen. No man was ever made by Mr. Jesup's money fortune; no socialist was ever made by his success in acquiring more than his share of the world's goods. He never leased a suite of apartments in a conspicuous hotel for $40,000 a year; he never lost or won $50,000,000 in a race or in a game of poker; he never bought a railway on the stock market or managed a corner in wheat. His name was never mentioned in connection with stock jobbing operations. He was better known as president of the chamber of commerce and a president of the American Museum of Natural History and for his activity in religion charity education, art and the advancement of science than of his operations on Wall street. When men spoke of Mr. Jesup they usually mentioned the money he was spending for the welfare of his fellowmen rather than the money he was making by his financial operations.

"This boy loves this girl, and this girl loves this boy. If her parents would keep away, they could live in happiness with their baby. These children could not kiss each other or decide what kind of breakfast food they would eat without somebody butting in. If this court had the power, it would take them both into the anteroom and paddle them well. Then it would quarantine the parents."

ORGANIZER SHARPE DOING GOOD WORK

A Word to Ohio County Members
[Who are Urged to be of Good Cheer.

To the readers of the Republican; I visited Warren County for a few days last week held four meetings two with Local Union and two at points where there was no organization. Succeeded in organizing at both places near Polkville with 14 members, and at Barren River School House with 22. All this section is ripe for organization the benefits of organization are apparent upon every hand the power of the farmers to control the prices of his products is being admitted and recognized everywhere how important then that we extend and solidify the organization for it is evident that with complete and persistent co-operation the goal of our ambition can soon be reached and the Farmer become absolute master of his own business. Members of the A. S. of E. be encouraged to press on the tide is in our favor the world is coming our way. Brethren of Ohio that has been the banner county, don't let the banner trail in the dust but press on and let's maintain our standing at the head of the class. Yours Truly,
M. E. SHARPE.

FOR FAIRBANKS

FOR PRESIDENT.

were elected to the General Assembly. In 1907 the Federal office-holders lost control and the old line Republicans nominated a ticket that won by nearly 20,000 majority.

Now the Republican Federal office-holders of the State with few exceptions, are banded, organized and earnestly laboring to carry the State for Mr. Taft. Should they succeed they will lead the party to another defeat. I sincerely hope that the Republicans of Kentucky will rebuke these self-constituted masters and see to it that the boys in the trenches and the people who constitute the brain and sinew of the party go to the various county conventions, assert their independence and forever break the yoke of official control. Each and every Republican is entitled to elect his candidate for President without dictation or fear from any sources high or low. I don't believe there is any doubt of the States of Cannon, Fairbanks or Hughes, if nominated. Frankly, I favor the nomination of Mr. Fairbanks because I believe he is the most available candidate.

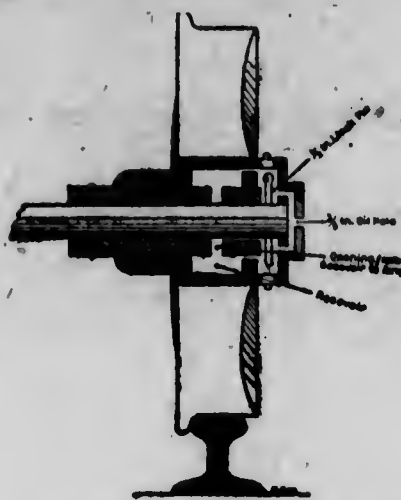

First—He is the unanimous choice of the Republicans of his State.

Second—He is a man of exalted integrity, spotless record, great ability and will not antagonize any element of the Republican party.

Third—He is our neighbor and friend. In the late campaign he came to this State and did effective service for the success of the Republican ticket.

Fourth—the people of Indiana did more to assist us in that campaign than those of any State in the Union.

Fifth—Mr. Fairbanks is the intimate friend of Mr. Roosevelt and any attempt to make the contrary appear is unfair and unjust to both the distinguished parties. It is perhaps unnecessary to add that whoever the nominee of the Republican party may be, will receive my hearty and unqualified support.
